

Report on-
Lecture on “Ecocriticism: Understanding Human-Nature Relationship in Literature”

01/ 05/ 2023

On May 1st, 2023, the Department of English in collaboration with IQAC organized an online lecture on "Eco-criticism: Understanding Human-Nature Relationship in Literature" as part of Alumni Lecture Series. The resource person for the lecture was Dr. Smita Devi, an Assistant Professor in the Department of English, Don Bosco University, Guwahati.

The lecture began at 7:00 pm in Google Meet in presence of the Principal of the college with a large audience of students, faculty members, and alumni in attendance. The introductory speech was delivered by Dr. Kishor Kr. Deka, the Head of the Department of English. He introduced the resource person in brief. Dr. Smita Devi started by explaining the concept of ecocriticism and its relevance in today's world. She emphasized the importance of understanding the human-nature relationship in literature, as it reflects our relationship with the environment in the real world.

Dr. Devi went on to explain how ecocriticism helps us understand the ecological crisis and how it affects us. She gave examples of literary works that focus on the environment and how they reflect the ecological concerns of their times. She also discussed the role of literature in promoting environmental awareness and how it can be used to inspire action.

The lecture was interactive, with participants asking questions and sharing their thoughts on the topic. Dr. Devi encouraged participation and engaged with the audience, making the lecture more engaging and informative.

In conclusion, the lecture on "Eco-criticism: Understanding Human-Nature Relationship in Literature" was a thought-provoking and enlightening experience for everyone who attended. It provided a deeper understanding of the relationship between humans and nature, and how literature can be a powerful tool in promoting environmental awareness and inspiring action. The Department of English and IQAC are to be commended for organizing such a meaningful and timely lecture as part of their Alumni Lecture Series.
